

Front-end Web Developer (junior)

*You really like coding with added value to society?
Join nazka mapps.*

nazka mapps is a young company developing innovative mapping applications and location-based API's. We focus on applications with added social value. Right now, we are looking for an enthusiastic front-end web developer for our map applications. You will join a small but growing and progressive team, in which you contribute to the outlines of the future.

We welcome you with

- An open and modern management with lots of development opportunities and growth
- An expanding team that supports you. We let each other grow
- Work flexibly at Leuven, Mechelen or at home
- Eye for good work-life balance
- An interesting mix of local, international projects and proprietary products
- A nice salary package with fringe benefits (meal vouchers, mobile, laptop,...)
- Monthly "inspiration-day": a day to realise your own ideas

You will contribute to

- The front-end development and UI/UX building blocks of our map applications (focus is on JavaScript & CSS)
- The continued improvement of modules and stack
- You share your work-methods and follow up new technologies and innovations

You have

- ✓ a bachelor/master degree in IT (or convince us if you think that is not necessary for the job)
- ✓ 0-3 years' experience in web development
 - HTML5, CSS3, JavaScript (Node.js, React)
 - User experience focused design
 - Familiar with responsive designs
 - Experience with web map applications and data visualisation is an asset (Leaflet, Google Maps API, WebGL)
- ✓ talent for design and layout
- ✓ eye for user friendliness
- ✓ agile mind-set and hands-on mentality
- ✓ a testing-attitude and strong focus on quality
- ✓ strong communication skills

Moreover you are

- ✓ eager to learn, open minded and concerned with social themes
- ✓ a team player, helpful, you want to win together
- ✓ passionate with development and coding for fun
- ✓ in favour of open source and open data
- ✓ interested in maps and geographical applications
